

Original StuInfo Design

Right: Drop down menu example

The goal of this project is to redesign the aging and poorly designed Michigan State University StuInfo portal. In its current iteration, the user interface is cluttered with a daunting number of links and seemingly endless dropdown menus. In my revision, I designed a cleaner, better designed interface with hopes of a better user experience. Inaccessible drop-down menus were replaced with tabs and links were replaced with icons that better represented their function. Within their tabs, these icons are organized into categories that make sense.
